City UR Board To Sign Contract With Engineer

OWNERS SET FOR MEETINGS IN 2 WEEKS

A 10 a.m. meeting Monday is scheduled for the signing of a contract with Bernard Johnson and Assoc., Houston engineering firm, for planning work on the proposed downtown Cameron urban renewal program.

A. W. McCullin, recently elected chairman of the Cameron Urban Renewal Board, said another meeting will be called within about two weeks to discuss downtown renewal possibilities with downtown businessmen and property owners in the 24-block area under consideration.

McCullin told The Herald Wednesday the seven-member Urban Renewal Board decided to follow the City Planning Commission's original proposal to plan renewal in 24 blocks bordered by Fanning, Crockett, Tyson and East Fourth Sts.

The board had discussed earlier a three square block downtown area, centering around the block west of Milam Courthouse. Authorization of $37,000 in planning funds and allocation of $653,000 of matching federal funds allows consideration of a 40-acre area.

McCullin said the Monday meeting will be at Cox Estate offices with James Green, engineer from Bernard Johnson who is working on the Cameron project. He also is expected to present a work sheet for following through the planning stage, expected to take about six to nine months.

McCullin said property ownership and title search has been ordered for 150 to 200 downtown property sites. The meeting in two weeks would allow owners and operators in the downtown area to review the project.

Tuesday, the Urban Renewal Board met with Green and Lewis Jefferies, of Fort Worth office of Housing and Urban Development.

McCullin said project director A. E. Matula began work fulltime Wednesday at the project office in the Triggs Bldg., Cameron. Office equipment is being ordered before the office is officially opened.

Mrs. Roman Lehnert has been employed as a parttime secretary. About $15,000 in planning funds has been turned over to the Cameron Urban Renewal Agency, headed by McCullin and the six-man board.

Meeting Tuesday with the Houston and Fort Worth officials were also: Mayor E. A. Perrin, former chairman of the Urban Renewal Board; Councilman R. W. Wells; and Gordon Baskin and Edward Bigbee, local real estate agents.

By F. M. L.

So much activity is common at this time of year in elections, daylight saving time, school's end, approaching, Cameron modernization moves.

That new found "bachelorhood" for the week is almost more than 109 can bear.

Illness in the family took Mrs. 109 away for the week, and Martin... but not Leslie and Sno, the cat, and Dusky, the dog. And you know these people (neither cat nor dog will admit to being anything less) eat more when there are fewer to eat.

How much can an 8 - pound cat-already 15 years old, eat? Cansful. I can testify.

Les is so efficient that it is difficult to believe a 8-year-old can know so many ways to get her way through the delicate intrigues of a little girl and the stupidity of her "bachelor" father.

Men, if you want reason for accommodating the various challenges of marriage, send your wife away for a week. If the additional duties are not enough to impress, she'll make them seem light by her return, and might even remind you of their importance, too.

Not being directly affected by the change of daylight saving time, 109 is not "up tight" (California talk) on the extra hour of light at night.

It is easy to see its effect on many other people.

The grass seems to grow longer, the birds sing in morning darkness, the farmer thinks the whole thing's unnecessary, the golfer plays an See — 109 — Page 4

Donors Sought For Bloodmobile Visit May 10

Recruitment committeemen for the Red Cross Bloodmobile met Friday at St. Edward Hospital to plan for the May 10 visit of the bloodmobile, the second of three annual visits.

The visit will be 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Friday at the Methodist Fellowship Hall. Goal is 100 pints, thus meeting the average quota of 71 pints.

Quotas have been assigned to Cameron churches in an effort to make the 100-pint quota and catch up on the blood shortage, according to Sister Aloysius, Cameron blood program chairman.

Church members are being asked to sign pledges. Area coaches at schools are encouraging seniors who are 18 and eligible to donate during the visit.

Two Cameron youngsters are now in special need of extra blood because of leukemia.

Sister Aloysius urges area residents to consider the importance of having blood supply available for accident victims, the seriously ill and other needs for whole blood.

'Need Doctors More Than Food' ...

Milam's Health Surveyed

Dr. C. G. Swift, acting director of Milam County Health Unit, has answered an inquiry from Cong. W. R. Poage concerning a controversy stirred last week by a report termed "Hunger U.S.A."

The physician wrote "our community needs doctors more than the people need food."

The report was announced in the daily press last week and was released by the "Citizens' Board of Inquiry Into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States", a non-government survey sponsored by United Auto Workers.

Milam County was listed among 256 "hunger" counties in the report, which said Falls, Limestone, and Milam Counties, all in Cong. Poage's district, were among counties in 20 states having "chronic hunger and malnutrition."

Dr. Swift said "not a single death was ascribed to malnutrition or any disease caused by any dietary deficiency."

He referred to a survey of certificates of death he made of the

Briscoe Visits Cameron On Swing Through Cen-Tex

Dolph Briscoe, a gubernatorial candidate in Democratic primary May 4, met a group of Cameronites 6:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Texan Western Room.

He was touring Central Texas during the last week of the campaign.

Briscoe talked briefly with local people. He was introduced by Bassel Wilson, of Cameron.

Briscoe is from South Texas' Uvalde, is well known as a cattleman and business leader. He was named "Mr. South Texas" in 1967, and has served several terms in the Texas House of Representatives.

He was accompanied by press representatives from metropolitan newspapers Robert Mann, formerly of Cameron, and now on special assignment with Fort Worth Star-Telegram, is covering Briscoe's tour in this area of the state.

Briscoe termed his tour part of his "people-to-people" campaign, a wind up which covers 22,000 miles.

He is also conducting a "Tel-A-Housewife" campaign whereby Uvalde housewives contact others through Texas in Briscoe's behalf. His background is included in The Herald's "candidate section", Page 3B.

Uvalde, the banker - cattleman - businessman's hometown, had already declared "Dolph Briscoe Day" earlier in the campaign.

listed in the survey. He had written the 256 county health officers involved throughout the United States. And he is writing "each practicing physician listed in the telephone directories in the counties of our District where it is charged hunger exists."

"I will appreciate your cooperation in checking the startling charges of this self-appointed board inasmuch as it has received a great deal of national publicity," Poage wrote.

For Milam County's part, Dr. Swift noted in his letter of April 30 to the 11th District Congressman:

"The Milam County Health Unit employs two Public Health Nurses. The duties of each nurse consist of routine immunization procedure in the clinic and home visits to patients who are recipients of Welfare care or Home Health Agency care under the Title XIX program," he wrote.

"During the period noted above, 3,128 immunizations were completed. These contacts enabled the nurses to observe any evidence of malnutrition. I am told that no evidence of any dietary deficiency was seen," he continued.

He went on to write that the "Public Health Nurses made 1,900 home visits during the period. I have interviewed them today (April 30) and they have not observed any evidence of malnutrition. Poverty in the form of poor housing, lack of conveniences, etc., of course, exists. Our community needs doctors more than the people need food. However, the general health of Milam County is good," the letter concluded.

MEET YOUR CANDIDATES ...

Second Section of The Herald is the fourth biennial "Meet Your Candidates" for Democratic and Republican primaries.

Max McClaren, Milam County Democratic chairman, said the emphasis will be on "unity and harmony" in all Democratic precinct conventions following Complete sample ballot, candidate resumes, voting information of officials and candidates for the Democratic Party is in Pages 1 through 4B. FiveB has resumes on the only state-wide Republican primary candidates. No district or county GOP candidates are listed.

Voting will be from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. for all primaries in Milam County.

Republican precincts are in First Methodist Fellowship Hall and Rockdale High School Cafeteria.

Entered as second-class matter at the Post Office in Cameron, Texas, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879. Published every Thursday.

For Rep. Schiller . . .

Rep. Milton J. Schiller, 51, of Cameron, is seeking a fourth term in the Texas House of Representatives in the Saturday Democratic Primary.

He has served District 27 with considerable distinction during the first three terms. He is House chairman of Contingent Expense and a member, past or present, of House committees on finance, penitentiaries, aeronautics among others.

All his experience in three Legislatures as a Cameron city councilman, school board president, civic leader and businessman will continue to serve him well in a new elected term.

All his experience with three Legislatures in a critical period for metropolitan Texas and rural Central Texas means know-how in understanding, now, the pulse of quickening change.

All of his experience as representative and community leader gives assurance of what he can do in a time when known ability and maturity have new meaning for Texans and people everywhere.

There is time for change, of course. But when change in government at every level affects each of us so much these days, we think it wise to weigh experience heavily in the measure of an elected official.

We think Rep. Milton Schiller, of Cameron, is working for District 27, its towns and counties and people, and is capable of better service in a fourth term.

We support Rep. Schiller's candidacy and recommend his re-election to that fourth term.

The 1968 Primary . . .

It goes without emphasis that Saturday is a primary election day in Texas.

The "Voters Meet Candidates" section of this Herald dramatizes the large slate of candidates for governor, probably a record, and usual number of offices up for renomination.

Because of the wide-open race for governor, people have been somewhat perplexed by the wide range of candidates and even apathetic toward making a decision.

But the final primary week has voters looking and listening at the outpouring of information about gubernatorial and other candidates on the primary ballot.

That's the main reason The Herald came up with this fourth biennial section. In it, we try to keep perspective lost in a lot of oratory.

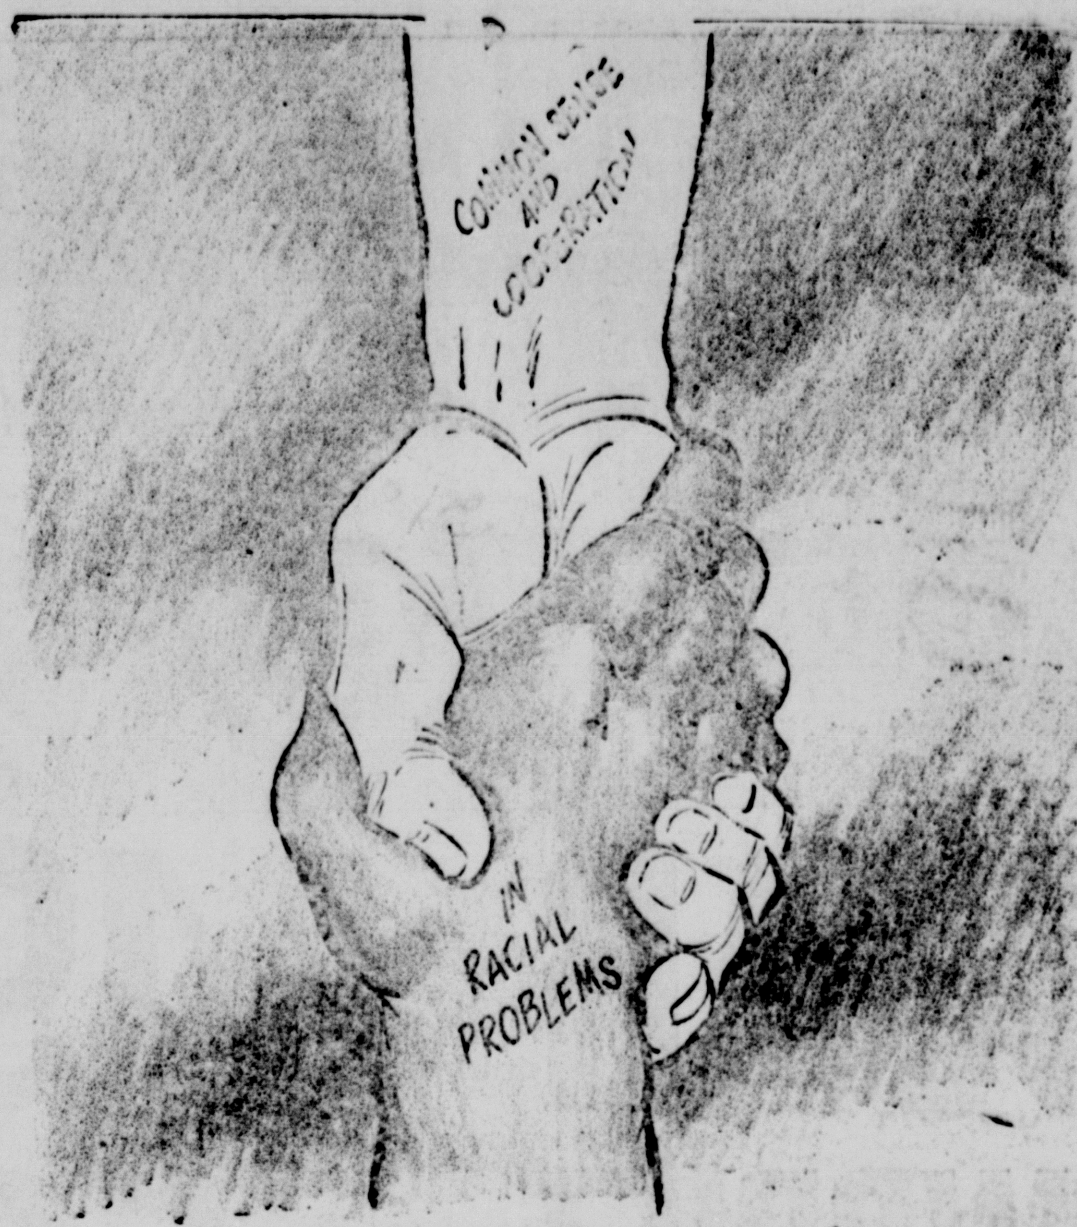

We, of course, urge Milam County voters to go to the polls and their precinct conventions Saturday in this presidential year. It is said the only direct influence on candidates is at the precinct and county level where "grassroots delegates" are named.

Several candidates for governor -- John Hill, Preston Smith, Dolph Briscoe, Eugene Locke--offer unique qualities and experience. A choice is difficult and this difficulty will be reflected, in our opinion, among the slate of candidates in a close vote Saturday. No one is likely to win "going away."

We think Ben Barnes at 30 is the exception and will carry a large majority for lieutenant governor nominee, with his unprecedented experience and accomplishment as three-time House Speaker.

All the candidates ask voter consideration in this election year, which, with all the momentous problems here and abroad, puts large responsibility on American citizenship.

About 50% Of Votes Expected At Primary Polls

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Hard-driving candidates for governor are coming down the stretch after a long campaign which has failed to fire up the voters.

Probably about 50 percent of the total eligible electorate of just over four million will decide the outcome Saturday (May 4).

Strong Democratic runners include Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, John Hill, Waggoner Carr, Eugene Locke, Don Voorhees, Dolph Briscoe and Edward L. Whittenburg. Pat O'Daniel has campaigned extensively in recent weeks.

Other candidates, Johnnie Mac Packer and Alfonso Veloz, have done little campaigning.

In the Republican primary, a warm gubernatorial contest features Paul Eggers, John R. Trice and Wallace Sisk.

Another hard-fought contest on the Democratic ballot pits House Speaker Ben Barnes against Don Gladwin and Gene Smith for lieutenant governor.

There are two State Supreme Court races in the Democratic primary.

Place 1 - Matt Davis vs. Sears McFee

Place 2 - Tom Reavley vs. James G. Denton

There is just one other statewide contest on either ballot.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert is opposed by Dallas Blankenship Democratic, Republican and American parties have scheduled referendums on legalizing sale of mixed alcoholic beverages on local option, pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing, also on local option, and establishment of a state milk-price-fixing commission.

Democrats expect sharp fighting in their precinct conventions Saturday which decide makeup of the national presidential nominating convention delegation and shape of the state party organization.

Gov. John Connally is campaigning for favorite son presidential designation.

Leadership of the national convention delegation and binding of delegates under the unit rule. Liberal opposition opposes both Connally as favorite son and the unit rule. Republican conventions Saturday will see strong efforts to name Sen. John Tower as their favorite son candidate.

Voters have been warned they cannot participate in affairs of the new American Party supporting George Wallace for president if they vote in either the GOP or Demo primaries Saturday or go to major party conventions. American Party needs 14,000 members to get Wallace on the November ballot.

ATTY. GENERAL RULES

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held that the "open meetings" law of 1967 is valid and constitutional. Opinion cleared the way for first court action (at Brownsville) under the new act. Cameron County Criminal Dist. Atty. F. T. Graham requested the opinion after the Brownsville Herald complained its reporter was barred for an hour from a meeting of the Brownsville Public Utilities Board last January 25.

In other new opinions, Martin has concluded that:

—Department of Public Safety can pay a commercial transportation company to move the household belongings of a highway patrolman transferred to a new duty station when state-owned equipment is not available.

—Beer can be sold from a 2½ gallon container at a licensed bar.

—State must pay the claim for $6,700 for the administrator of an estate in absence of any evidence that the documents submitted with the claim are false.

—Harris County Hospital District may spend public money to pay employees' travel expenses in recruiting activities but can't pay those of applicants or moving expenses.

In an important new opinion, Court of Criminal Appeals has held that trial judges must interrupt criminal trials and get a jury verdict on a question of sanity if the issue is raised by evidence.

Following that decision, Court reversed two convictions, ordering new trials for a young Petersburg woman accused of stabbing a baby to death and for an Andrews County man sentenced to life imprisonment as an habitual criminal. Court also ordered a new trial in a Lubbock County murder case and closed the book on 21-year-old Kenneth Allen McDuff's unsuccessful appeal from the death penalty for murder of three teenagers in Tarrant County a year and a half ago.

Supreme Court, reversing intermediate court, upheld trial judgment that landowners' suit to stop Fort Worth annexation of 6.3 acres of land in 1963 is void.

BUILDING-HOUSING CODE

Senate Study Committee of Slums and Slum Clearance has called for statewide minimum building and housing codes and other action encouraging individual initiative in the area of home improvements.

Housing code, committee said, should be established by a state agency, designed to protect health and should include physical requirements and establish a desired occupancy ratio. Building Code was recommended for a January, 1970, effective date.

Other committee recommendations:

—Encouragement of local non-profit neighborhood corporations to plan neighborhood renovation.

—Establishment of a state-guaranteed loan program to assist with renovation and compliance with codes.

—Creation of a State Housing and Planning Commission to administer programs proposed.

GRANTS APPROVED

Governor Connally has approved six supplemental state regional planning grants totaling $18,153.

Biggest of grants, $8,559, will go to North Central Texas Regional

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Somebody from another state sent me a marked copy of a magazine calling my attention to an article on the latest discovery in periculture, expecting I guess that it would arouse my interest. Actually it has only aroused my agitation. You ought to stop sending The Herald out of Texas.

According to it, a woman scientist up in Canada, having heard that a corn farmer in Illinois claimed he increased his crop yield by serenading his plants with a piece of music called "Thansody In Blue" over and over again, and that an Australian fruit grower said he produced more and bigger bananas by constantly playing a phonograph record of a loud bass note among the trees, proceeded to test this strange idea out scientifically, and sure enough, she claims, by piping tones to one batch of wheat and not to another, she discovered the former produced more wheat.

I have given this long and thoughtful consideration and have decided women should stay out of science. They talk too much there too.

Have you stopped to think what the spread of this notion could do to farming?

Up to now one of the main pleasures of living on this Johnson grass farm has been the peace and quiet of the place, but you let my neighbors hear about that woman scientist's new theory and there'll be like bees and radios blaring out in all directions night and day, amaretto musicians sawing away and croaky-voiced youngsters waiting about their lost loves and the inconvenience of the draft and the horrors of earning a living. If I was a stalk of corn, I'd grow faster too. Anything to get it over with.

If I ruin farming, Take all the pleasure out of it. And when you sell a corn nowadays, that's about all you've got left anyway.

Of course there are some bands I've heard on television which some corn farmers might hesitate to grow a crop with, feeling the not result can't be anything but a bunch of muddins. I won't attempt to say what it would do to tomatoes.

Why don't women scientists stick to inventing new formulas for eye shadow, run-less hose and more powerful detergents and leave farming alone?

I tell you, anytime I have to hire a guitar player to make a crop, I'm quitting. What would it profit a man to gain a bigger crop and lose his own nervous system?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Jehovah's Witnesses Plan 3-Day Assembly

San Marcos High School Auditorium was named the site of the forthcoming three-day ministerial assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held in San Marcos May 31 to June 2.

The announcement was made when more than 40 Central Texas ministers attended a business meeting in Austin Monday evening to finalize plans for the event.

Durwood Herbelin, local presiding minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, stated, "A great deal of preparation and hard work go into making this gathering of an expected 100 delegates a success."

Planning Commission, a voluntary association of local governments in 10 counties of the Dallas-Fort Worth region. Same organization received an earlier grant of $22,000 for a variety of studies.

Henderson Reports Disposition Of District, County Cases In '67

The District Court of Milam County during 1967 disposed of 33 felony cases, including ten cases where the accused received a penitentiary sentence.

Adult probation was granted in four cases and 19 cases were dismissed for various reasons. Of the cases that were dismissed, five of these were in situations where the defendants were unable to be located; four were dismissed after full restitution was made to the injured party; four were transferred to lower courts and six were dismissed for "insufficient evidence", according to District Attorney John B. Henderson, Jr.

One forgery case was dismissed after restitution. Five worthless check cases were handled by dismissal, including three cases of restitution and two where we were unable to locate the persons charged, he said.

Eight felony theft cases were reported this year. Results were: One case where the defendant was convicted and given a 7-year penitentiary sentence; one case where a 5-year probated sentence was assessed; and six dismissals including two cases where the charges were transferred to a lower court.

Eight burglary cases were tried or dismissed. In two of these, a penitentiary sentence was assessed upon judgment of guilt rendered by the Court, including one 8-year sentence and one 2-year sentence. Probation was revoked and the defendant ordered to be transferred to the penitentiary to serve his sentence in two separate cases. Four burglary cases were dismissed for insufficient evidence.

One murder with malice case was dismissed for insufficient evidence and two assault with intent to murder with malice aforethought cases were disposed of this year. One of these resulted in a 5-year probated sentence and the other in a 2 year sentence in the penitentiary. This last case is now on appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals, Henderson said.

Transferred to the County Court were two cases charging malicious mischief in connection with the shooting incident at the Thorndale High School on May 15, 1967. These cases have been tried in the County Court.

Two attempted burglary cases resulted in penitentiary sentences of two years each for defendants from Waco. These charges grew out of an attempt to burglarize the Piggly Wiggly Store in Rockdale.

Two felony driving while intoxicated cases were disposed of. One case resulted in a sentence for confinement in the County Jail for 90 days and the other defendant received a 3-year probated sentence.

A young defendant from Rockdale received a 60-day sentence upon being convicted of the offense of operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner.

Five-year probated sentence was assessed upon a conviction for fraudulent disposition of mortgaged property.

Eighty-eight cases were disposed of in the County Court of Milam County during 1967. These included cases where the following offenses were charged: non-support of children, driving while intoxicated, negligent homicide, aggravated assault, illegal possession of alcoholic beverages for purpose of sales, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, sale of beer during prohibited hours, selling alcoholic beverages to a minor, worthless checks, unlawfully carrying a pistol, defrauding an innkeeper, concealing mortgaged property, driving while license suspended, misdemeanor theft, and firing a gun into a schoolhouse. Also the following cases were disposed of on appeal from Justice or Corporation Courts: exceeding a safe speed, disturbing the peace, speeding, drunkenness and defective lights.

He reported about 50 cases of lesser degree prosecuted or otherwise processed.

Chandler, Kirk Head For Finals In Two-A Track

Paul Chandler, crack Yoeman miler, and Wayne Kirk, powerful Yoe weightman, have won a third and fourth respectively in the "Little State Track" at Corpus Christi.

They go to Austin Friday for the State Track Finals.

Headcoach Ken Fuqua said that Chandler ran a 4:18.9 mile for a third in open competition at the Corpus Christi, racking up 1968's best 2A mile.

Kirk threw his best discus heave of the year for a fourth and 159 feet, one-eighth inch.

Both had won their events in 2A competition at Regional in Brenham.

Fuqua says he thinks both boys can win a first in their events if they turn in the same efforts on Friday.

Chandler runs sometime Friday and Kirk competes 1:45 p.m. Friday, Fuqua said.

Chandler won regional with a 4:30.1 mile while Kirk topped regional discus throwers with a 154-foot throw.

Careless boat-trailing can depreciate the value of your rig in a hurry.

Even more important—if you should be involved in an accident—it can cost you not only repairs but possibly even a lawsuit. Both cost money!

Texas law requires that your boat trailer have a license, lights and a safety chain. If you're hauling an unusually heavy rig, the trailer also must have brakes.

Let's consider trailering a boat from start to finish. To begin with, make sure the boat is properly seated on the trailer. Don't try to balance it in such a manner that you can pick up the trailer tongue with your little finger.

When hitched to the car bumper a tongue should exert a downward pressure of at least 50 pounds. This is so the trailer won't have a tendency to jump up and free from the hitch when going over a bumpy road or when stopped abruptly.

Best thing to do is to practice driving at various speeds and then note the distance required to come to a complete stop.

A boat and trailer will cause "blind spots" behind you. This can be greatly overcome by using an extension type side-view mirror on your car.

When trailering a loaded boat, you should reduce your normal driving speed considerably. At high speed trailers have a tendency to swerve. This swerving is more pronounced with small-wheel trailers.

It takes some practice for one to learn to back up a car and trailer combination. A simple rule, however, is to place your hand at the bottom of the steering wheel and turn the wheel in the direction you want the back end of the trailer to go.

Sand, and particularly salt water, play havoc with wheel bearings. All bearings should be packed with grease before you start on your trip. And remember you may lose a little of that protective grease during the trip.

Remember you're driving two vehicles, not one. Consequently allow ample room for passing. Also remember that you have less maneuverability when hauling a trailer so always allow the right of way to faster vehicles.

Allow plenty of room to brake to a smooth stop when hauling a trailer. Extra momentum due to the weight of the loaded boat and trailer means that you will need extra distance in which to stop.

Draft Delinquencies Decrease By 58 In Texas, SS Director Says

AUSTIN — The number of cases of draft delinquency in Texas decreased from 1,028 to 970 in the first quarter of 1968, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Friday.

The number of these cases involving failure to report for induction into the military service also dropped from 597 to 523.

All these cases were not reported in the first quarter of 1968, as the delinquency list is cumulative. Some of these cases have been reported to U.S. attorneys. Others are being handled under the draft delinquency regulations.

The great majority of the delinquency cases continues to be in the Dallas, Houston, Baytown, and San Antonio area. The number of draft boards with no delinquency cases decreased from 20 to 16 during the quarter. These are located at Lufkin, Pleasanton, Coleman, McKinney, Van Horn, Fairfield, Sulphur Springs, Terrell, Benjamin, Bowie, Clarksville, Henderson, Abilene, McCarney, Gainesville, and Calvert.

Col. Schwartz, the state draft director, does not regard the delinquency situation as a major problem. "We have less than a thousand delinquents out of a registration of nearly two million men," he pointed out.

Rites Held For Dave Hemenas

Dave Hemenas, 78, of Cameron, died Sunday afternoon at his home. Funeral services were 2 p.m. Tuesday at Green's Funeral Home chapel with Rev. Arthur Webb officiating. Burial was in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Hemenas was born in Burlington County, but had lived in Milam County most of his life. He was a retired farmer, a veteran of World War I, and a member of the Battletown Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife and two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Eubanks of Caldwell and Mrs. Flora Barham of Somerville.

Milton Schiller

Milton Schiller

State Rep. Milton Schiller, 51, of Cameron, seeks re-election to a fourth term as state representative of District 27, Milam, Falls and Robertson Counties.

Rep. Schiller has served five years in the Texas House and holds assignments to House Committees on Contingent Expenses (of which he is chairman), Appropriations and Revenue and Taxation.

He says the chairmanship and the other committee experience "has given me a good insight into state finances and made me real conscious of the necessity for getting full value from each dollar expended."

Rep. Schiller in a previous year served on the House Aeronautics Committee, during which he introduced a bill allowing the state and federal governments to help small cities build or modernize airports. Marlin, Hearne and Cameron have participated in the resulting legislation.

Rep. Schiller also has authored bills regulating distribution of herbicides, more county control and providing for reflectorized license plates starting this year. He has served also on House Agriculture and Livestock Committee and House Penitentiaries Committee (his first term).

He was born in 1917 on a Bell County farm, the youngest of a pioneer family of the Colony community. He is married to the former Miss Vivian Donaho. They have three daughters, Linda, Peggy and Nancy.

Rep. Schiller was a locomotive fireman with Missouri Pacific as a young man and active in Firemen and Engineers organizations. He has served three terms as a city councilman in Cameron, president of Cameron School Board. He is a past vice-president of Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce and is a Rotarian, member of Chamber of Commerce and other civic and fraternal groups.

He received the Distinguished Service Award to Legislators in 1964 from Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association. In 1967 he received the Distinguished Individual Supporter of Texas 4-H Club Youth Award by the Texas 4-H Youth Development Council.

Rep. Schiller notes he won his first two races by majorities of almost 2,000 votes in the former District 45 and defeated two other opponents without runoff in the 1966 primary.

He is a personal friend of Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham who is heir apparent by big majority to be Speaker of the next House of Representatives.

Dan Kubiak

Dan Kubiak

Dan Kubiak, 30, now of Rockdale, seeks a first term as state representative in District 27 in the May 4 Democratic primary.

Kubiak ran for the representative's nomination in the May 1964 Democratic primary, a first time, when Milam, Robertson and Burleson Counties formed District 45 and lost.

He recently announced publication of a text book, "Ten Tall Texans," listing former heroes of Texas including Anglo and Mexican Americans. The book has won an award for excellence. Until this spring he taught school at Cypress-Fairbanks, near Houston.

Kubiak grew up on a farm at Reagan and attended Marlin High School where he lettered in sports and was a student leader in several capacities.

He is the oldest of six children and has worked his way through Plinn College, Brenham, and the University of Texas where he graduated with a BBA degree. He has studied at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., and Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, while teaching.

In an announcement on his platform, Kubiak says:

—He believes that government is a dedicated endeavor and "is more than a fulltime job for the representative. This job pays the same amount as I make teaching school and I will work fulltime for the people in this district."

—He believes modern laws should be written for women's legal rights, that he hopes to work with farm leaders, if elected, to secure greater markets for farm products, realizing the federal government is agriculture's controlling factor.

—He would concentrate more on school vocational programs for welding, auto mechanics, television schools, heavy farm equipment operation and others.

—He sees a need for a complete revision of public welfare saying each county receives on the average one and half million dollars which is not distributed on need.

—He opposed any "increase in taxes to be common people" and favors working with businessmen, farmers and industry to increase job opportunities.

—He would work for revision of the State Constitution and "will fight to preserve those States' Rights that we have."

Kubiak recently married Zana Bassler of Somerville, who he says, "like me, knows the many problems of the rural area."

Nine Unopposed In Demo Primary At Local Level

Nine out of 11 unopposed offices are on the Milam Democratic ballot May 4 at district, county and precinct levels.

District Judge W. C. Wallace is up for a third, four-year term in the only district-level, unopposed office.

County Atty. John B. Henderson Jr., County Sheriff Carl C. Black, Assessor Collector Valter White and Democratic Chairman Max McClaren all are unopposed in primary nominations for new four-year terms.

Albert Timmerman, incumbent commissioner of Precinct 3, is unopposed for re-nomination for a second term while F. B. Burks of Precinct 3, Ollie L. Cook of Precinct 4, and Herman Dornier of Precinct 7, are unopposed for nomination as constables.

Two posts have no candidates, including county surveyor, which is unpaid post and Precinct 5 constable.

Henderson, a law graduate of the University of Texas, and native of Cameron, is seeking a second full term. Sheriff Black and Assessor Collector White are seeking new terms after holding office for several consecutive terms.

McClaren has been county Democratic chairman for 17 years.

Judge Wallace serves the 20th Judicial District which includes Robertson and Milam Counties.

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders
Cotton farmers in Milam County will vote in the middle of May to decide whether they want to be able to sell or lease their cotton allotments outside the county. The referendum on the question will be conducted during the period May 13 through May 17. Ballots may be returned by mail or delivered by hand to the ASCS county office during that time. Mailed ballots must be postmarked not later than May 17 and must arrive at the ASCS county office before ballots are counted on May 22.

The only question to be decided by the balloting is whether 1969 upland cotton allotments may be transferred to farms which are located in other counties by sale or by lease.

Transfers of allotments by an owner to a farm that he owns or controls may be made across county lines without regard to the outcome of the referendum. In no case may transfers be made outside the United States.

An affirmative vote by at least two-thirds of the county's cotton farmers who vote will permit such transfers by sale or lease for 1969.

There were three similar referendums conducted in 1965, 1966, and 1967, and growers in 95 counties throughout the Cotton Belt have already voted—in 1966 or 1967—to approve such transfers for the 1969 crop.

The 1965 vote, however, covered only the 1966-68 crops, so the vote this year will be held in counties where such transfers have not previously been approved for 1969, including those where transfers were approved in the 1965 vote.

The voting by mail is easy and convenient, and the vote therefore should be large and fully representative of the wishes of the cotton farmers in the county.

Copies of the ballot will be sent to all cotton producers of record in the county, together with information describing the program's purpose and operation.

Final date for producers to obtain loans on 1967-crop cotton is extended from April 30 to May 31, 1968. This will permit producers more time to market their cotton and should result in more orderly marketing.

Hereford Tour At Noack Ranch

By J. D. Moore
The Gulf Coast Hereford tour planned for Saturday, May 11, will visit Leon Noack's cattle ranch at 9:15 a.m. Noack's Ranch is located south of Rockdale on the airport road. Leon has performance tested his registered herd of Hereford cattle since about 1954.

Entries from the Noack cattle have performed very well at testing stations at several points in Texas. The public is invited to visit Noack's Ranch on May 11, and take a look at his cattle.

HERBICIDE REGULATIONS
Since there are regulations connected with the use of 2,4-D as a weed control practice in Milam County, the public should be informed concerning questions arising from the use of this chemical.

The Texas Herbicide Law is administered by John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, Austin. Local questions should be directed to Joe B. Brown, Box 705, Temple 76701. His phone number is PR 8-2189. Brown is inspector for this area.

SORGHUM WEED CONTROL
Premergence applications of chemicals to control weeds in grain sorghum appear to be very effective. However, some were not able to get the chemicals down at planting time.

Questions came in concerning the use of 2,4-D type herbicides to control seedling weeds in the maize crops. These chemicals should be used only after the crop is six inches tall but before flowering. Do not use near susceptible crops.

Use drop nozzles with amine after the crop is ten inches high. Lithate may be used overall until seed head is six inches below tip of boot.

YELLOWING IN MAIZE

Many fields of maize and forage sorghum plants have a yellow color indicating a plant food deficiency. Due to the absence of sunshine and unfavorable growing conditions, chlorophyll development has been retarded.

Also, in some cases the feeder roots have not come in contact with the fertilizer. Most of these conditions will clear up with better growing conditions and with the application of fertilizer as a side dressing.

FRECKLED BANANAS

When bananas are covered with little brown spots, they are ready for mashing and mixing into puddings, breads and cakes. To hold ripened bananas a few days, refrigerate them. Be sure to wrap them tightly in a plastic bag to prevent their odor from spreading. Their skins will turn brown but the inside will stay the same for a few days.

OPPORTUNITY

Hay supplies were tight at the end of the current winter season and now is the time to make sure the same situation doesn't happen again. The favorable statewide soil moisture situation gives hay producers an opportunity to make large tonnages of high quality hay this year.

UNDERGROUND CIRCUITS

Underground electrical circuits to farm buildings, light posts and other equipment are not only practical but eliminate possibility of wires coming down during wind and ice storms, says W. S. Allen,

Texas Agriculture In Race To Apply New Technology

COLLEGE STATION
Texas agriculture is in the midst of a fast, accelerating technological race, says W. E. Black, Extension economist at Texas A&M University. What's more, the farmer is eager to get a bigger share of the savings it generates.

New knowledge and skills are being applied daily to crop and livestock production by producers who assume that prevailing economic conditions and market relationships will not change. There is the feeling that those who apply the new technology will reap great benefits and that these benefits will continue in definitely.

In marketing, there is also an all-out race to introduce a new item, new package, or new system of distribution. These innovators expect advantages, and for a short time they may seem to receive them, says Black.

However, in both production and marketing, if the change is good and desirable, more and more people adopt it. Then, almost immediately, everyone realizes that he must make the change to stay in business. Soon the ways of the innovator become common to many. As a result, the cost picture changes. Everyone ends up with about the same cost, which likely is lower than before the change. Profits soon return to levels that prevailed before the start of the race, says Black.

So what should be our attitude toward growth and efficiency? Do we ignore them and live with what we have? Agriculture and marketing must answer with a big "NO", according to Black.

Why? Americans are adept at applying knowledge — which doubles every generation — to competitive situations. The old and the

BITTERWEED CONTROL

The poisonous bitterweed can be controlled by spraying infested areas with 1 pound per acre of 2,4-D low volatile ester. Application should be made, advises G. O. Hoffman, Extension specialist, when the plants are growing vigorously and in the bud stage and when the temperature is above 55 degrees F.

FROZEN FOODS

Shop carefully for high quality frozen foods. If you squeeze the packages of frozen vegetables gently and they crunch to your touch, it means there's icy frost. This indicates the package may have been defrosted and refrozen.

Why it pays to control early-season cotton insects

Here's why it pays you to apply only 4 to 8 ounces of Malathion ULV® Concentrate to achieve ultra-low-volume control of thrips, fleahoppers and leafhoppers:

- gets cotton off to a fast start
- cotton fruits faster
- produces a larger, higher quality, early yield

This year, use Malathion ULV Concentrate, the only insecticide registered for ultra-low-volume control of early-season insects.

Place your order with your dealer today, and arrange with your aerial applicator to apply it.

Before using any pesticide, stop and read the label. *Trademark

"I am able to see!"

It is God who "healeth all my diseases." At the divine touch of the "Great Physician," a man who was born blind was "able to see." He saw a new world for the first time... he saw good and bad. How much can you see? Your vision may be 20-20, but can you see the order and beauty of the universe in the star-lit sky? Can you see Him in the bursting rosebud and the ripening grain? Can you see the church on the corner? Can you always see the difference between right and wrong? Can you? If the scales have started to form over your eyes, if your vision for good things is getting blurred, you better stop in at church this week. You'll be able to see.

6,000 May Vote May 4

Polls To Open At 8, Close 7

About 6,000 Milam County voters are expected to go to the polls in the Saturday, May 4, primaries to vote for candidates for 19 representative, county and precinct offices and 15 state and federal posts.

Voting begins in all 34 Milam Democratic precincts at 8 a.m. and ends at 7 p.m., according to County Clerk Wayne Wieser.

A resolution by County Commissioners' Court authorized, in effect, both Democratic and Republican primaries and the Milam General Election to begin an hour later, Wieser said. Vote for new starting hour was unanimous.

Twenty-five candidates are running for public office in Milam County's Democratic primary while 29 candidates are on the Milam ballot for federal and statewide posts ranging from Civil Appeals judge to 11th District Congressman.

Max McClaren, chairman of the Milam Democratic Party, urged all voters in the Democratic primary to bring registration certificates to the polls.

A registered voter can vote, if he forgets his registration receipt, but must sign an affidavit at the polls when he so votes, McClaren said.

9,637 REGISTERED

The 6,000 vote estimate is based on previous presidential year turnouts of 5,722 in 1960 and about 5,600 in 1964. This year, a total of 9,637 Milam County residents registered, including people over 65 for the first time and those who will be 21 by the time of a given election.

A runoff primary June 1 in the Democratic race for gubernatorial nomination is assured by the 10 candidates on the ballot. Governor Connally's announcement not to seek re-election late in 1967 opened the door.

There is little likelihood of any other runoffs on the state level, but it is possible the three-way race for commissioner, Precinct 4, could go into a runoff.

Candidates are: appointed incumbent Mrs. Dora McCasland, F. C. Hines and Dalton Caffey.

Of prime local interest is the race for state representative, District 27, contesting incumbent Rep. Milton Schiller, of Cameron, and challenger Dan Kubiak, of Rockdale.

PRECINCT RACES

Other precinct races to be decided are:

Commissioner, Precinct 1, Arnold Glaser and incumbent Adolph Gresak.

Commissioner, Precinct 4, challengers Hines and Caffey and incumbent Mrs. McCasland.

Precinct 1 constable, incumbent J. M. Terry and Jimmy Quillin. Precinct 2 constable, incumbent Loreine Thweatt, Roy Yates and Charles W. Bailey.

Precinct 6 constable, Guy Tittle and John Zajicek.

Precinct 8 constable, P. L. Paris and William E. Sheppard.

No candidates are listed on the Milam Democratic ballot for: County surveyor and constable, Precinct 5.

No precinct, county or district candidates appear on the Milam County Republican ballot.

There are three candidates for governor, Paul Eggers, John R. Trice, and Wallace T. Siak. A Republican county chairman or precinct chairmen will have to be written in, if any.

10 Demos Seeking Governor's Place

An almost unprecedented field of 10 candidates is on the Milam Democratic primary ballot.

Three candidates are vying for lieutenant governor as incumbent Lt. Gov. Preston Smith seeks the gubernatorial nomination and incumbent Speaker Ben Barnes vacates his post for a state-wide try as lieutenant governor.

The 10 gubernatorial candidates on the Texas ballot and spotlighted on Page 2 of this "Voters Meet Candidates" guide are:

Don Yarborough, making a second bid for governor since a try in 1962; Pat O'Daniel, Dallas insurance executive and son of the colorful former governor; John Hill, former secretary of state under Connally.

And Smith, incumbent lieutenant governor; Dolph Briscoe, South Texas cattleman and business leader; Johnnie Mae Hackworth, Brenham teacher and perennial campaigner for the nomination.

Alfonso Valoz, vacation campaigner for the nomination.

Also, Eugene Locke, former Presidential representative to South Vietnam; Edward L. Whittenburg, Houston insurance man and banker; and Waggoner Carr, former Texas House Speaker and attorney general.

A June 1 runoff is a certainty for two of the field, which at this time is closing a hard campaign in the state, particularly in metropolitan areas.

Speaker Barnes, Don Gladden, a Fort Worth state representative, and Gene Smith, also of Fort Worth, are in the race for the powerful lieutenant governor's place. Barnes is expected to carry by a wide majority.

Only two other contests appear on the ballot, for State Comptroller and Associate Justice, Supreme Court, Place 2.

Vying for comptroller are incumbent Robert S. Calvert and Dallas Blankenship, of Paris.

James G. Denton, chief justice, Court of Civil Appeals, Seventh Supreme Judicial District, and Tom Reavley, district judge, 16th Judicial District, seek the post.

Uncontested offices in the May 4 Democratic primary include:

Attorney general, incumbent Crawford Martin; commissioner of agriculture, incumbent John C. White; state treasurer, incumbent Jesse James; commissioner of general land office, incumbent Jerry Sadler; railroad commissioner, incumbent Jim C. Langdon; associate justice, Supreme Court Place 3, incumbent Zollie Steakley; judge of Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 1; incumbent W. A. 3 Propositions On May 4 Ballot

Appearing on both Democratic and Republican Primary ballots are three referendum propositions, asking:

an expression of public opinion on "liquor by the drink",

Pari-mutuel betting legalization, and creation of a Texas Dairy Commission with power to regulate and fix retail and wholesale milk prices.

Each proposition is prefaced with this statement: "This proposition is only an expression of public opinion and has no force or effect as law."

The Democratic ballot, in effect, reads:

1. "FOR (or AGAINST) Enactment by the Texas Legislature of a law permitting the legal sale of liquor by the drink in wet areas only after approval by local option elections, and which sale would be subject to strict regulation, effective controls and taxation thereof."

2. "FOR (or AGAINST) enactment by the Texas Legislature of a law permitting horse racing with pari-mutuel wagering on a local option basis; creating a Texas Horse Racing Board with the power to regulate pari-mutuel wagering on horse races; granting two percent of the total pari-mutuel pool each day to each county where there is a licensed race track; and apportioning among all other counties one-half of the total state net revenue from that source."

3. "FOR (or AGAINST) enactment by the Texas Legislature of a law creating the Texas Dairy Commission with the power to regulate and fix the retail and wholesale price of milk."

The pari-mutuel issue has appeared on both party primary ballots in previous years. It is the first consideration for a milk regulatory commission or "liquor by the drink."

Candidates For Lt. Gov.

Gene Smith

Gene Smith

Gene Smith, 45, Fort Worth, lists himself as the "independent conservative candidate" for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor in the May 4 primary.

Smith toured the state for Congressman - at - Large Candidate Joe Pool, who was elected to the post in 1962, and says he is the only candidate in this race who has helped run a statewide campaign for a "successful conservative for high public office."

In commenting on his opponents, Smith says: "My two announced and filed opponents are Don Gladden, age 37, a known Liberal supported by Ralph Yarborough forces and liberal groups of organized labor, and Ben Barnes, age 30, who has a power faction from among some LBJ-Connally people, plus some organized labor support."

Smith offers a seven-point program:

—Balancing the budget to prevent "spiraling taxes, and to aid in financing needed state services, partially by cutting out the "political pork barreling" in Austin.

—Increasing family type tourism to Texas without "open saloons" or liquor by the drink.

—Providing a state-trained group of volunteers from responsible citizens of all races to back up local authorities to prevent rioting and looting.

—Increasing efforts to control and prevent water and air pollution, a completely "independent conservative approach" to all state government problems, and fighting "power politics" at all levels.

Smith is a former state representative from Fort Worth who says he is conducting an "anti-pollution" campaign to clean up corruption in state government.

He served two terms in Texas Legislature, on committees of Banks and Banking, Insurance, Liquor Regulation, Public Health, among others. He is active in the VFW, American Legion, IOOF, Sertoma Club and has been active in Jaycees, Lions Club and is a Baptist. He served in airborne infantry during World War II in Europe. Barnes' "Action Program" includes:

—Responsible new approach to spending state money, based on annual legislative budgeting.

—Excellence in education, upgrading public schools, colleges and universities and development of a strong vocational training program.

—Stopping a rising Texas crime rate, including 12 points position about a Police Academy for all Texas peace officers, stronger criminal prosecution and better court facilities.

—Workable state liquor laws with strong, uniform enforcement.

—Seeking new industry and developing a strong, effective "state-controlled air and water pollution program," a workable statewide water plan, increasing state's tourism program and greater emphasis on the state meeting its problems in growing urban areas, such as mass transportation and waste disposal.

He also urges improvement of mental health and mental retardation programs, emphasizing community treatment centers, among other points.

Barnes is a native of De Leon and is serving his fourth term in the House, of which he became speaker at 26, the youngest in that post. He is seeking his first statewide, elective office. He attended Tarleton State College and Texas Christian University before transferring to the University of Texas where he made the dean's list and studied law.

673 ADDITIONAL HIGHWAY DEATHS A YEAR.

We can learn by the experience of others. After liquor-by-the-drink was legalized in Iowa, automobile accidents increased by 20 to 30 percent. He is a member of Hope Lutheran Church, Buckholts. He is Fire Chief and member of the Volunteer Fire Department of Buckholts, a member of the American Legion Post 519 of Buckholts since it was organized in 1946.

"If re-elected," Gresak said, "I will devote all my time to the job, as I have in the past, and will work to get a dollar's worth for each tax dollar spent. A commissioner's job is a full time job and my past record will show I am capable of serving you well in Commissioner's Court and on the rural roads. I am strongly in favor of more farm to market roads in Precinct 1."

Max McClaren

(No Picture Available)

Max McClaren, Milam County Democratic chairman, has served in this capacity for 17 years. He was appointed to this position by the County Democratic Executive Committee March 31, 1951.

He is unopposed for the post in the 1968 primary.

McClaren received his appointment shortly after the death of the late J. B. White who had served for almost 16 years and who was owner of the Cameron newspaper.

McClaren was associate editor of The Cameron Herald at the time of his appointment, and became editor of the paper in April of 1951.

He continued as editor until the paper was purchased by Milton F. Brown, Jr., of Dallas, in 1952.

McClaren, in the spring of 1953 enrolled at Baylor University to finish his college BA degree with majors in English, history and religious education. He later did McClaren was county campaign manager for Lyndon B. Johnson in 1954 for the U.S. Senate. He and the late Emory B. Camp were Johnson's co-chairmen campaign managers in 1960. He served as area campaign personnel chairman for the re-election of Senator Ralph W. Yarborough (D-Tex.) in 1964 with Camp, who was county finance chairman.

For Governor

Edward Whittenburg

Edward Whittenburg

Edward L. Whittenburg, 39, of Houston, is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor on a campaign for "integrity in government, responsive, businesslike government and consumer protection."

He is chairman of the board of two banks, the Commercial National Bank, of Dallas, and Central National Bank, of Houston. In 1955, he founded Whittenburg and Company, independent insurance agents and consultants, now "one of the largest of its kind in Texas."

Whittenburg recalls being born in a half dugout on the plains of West Texas, oldest of nine children of a Hockley County tenant farmer.

He attended public schools in Whiteface, Texas, first through 10th grades, going to work at 12 to help support his family. He joined the Army at 16, becoming what is believed to be the youngest first sergeant in the Air Corps of that time. He earned his high school diploma in the service and began studies at San Antonio's Trinity University. He graduated in 1951 after working his way through Texas Tech.

He says, "People in Texas must know their elected state officials are obligated only to the general public." He urges passage of 3 bills which would require full disclosure of all state elected officials, a strong conflict of interest bill and more effective lobby control bill.

If elected, Whittenburg would "put knowledge of private industry to work in state affairs." And he would establish an independent body to "investigate sources of wasteful spending and inefficient operations."

And Whittenburg urges methods change of setting auto insurance rates and regulation of sales of finance companies, establishing an office of consumer protection against dishonest operators.

He is married and has two children, 10 and 5. He is a member of Pines Presbyterian Church of Houston, is a 32nd degree Mason and a Shriner. He is past president of the Houston Southeast Lions Club and is a Rotarian. He flies his own plane and likes amateur photography.

He has been active for years in youth anti-delinquency work and in crime investigation.

Carr ran for the Senate in 1966, but lost in the general election to Texas Republican John Tower.

A graduate of the University of Texas School of Law, Carr has 17 years of public service, two years as assistant district attorney in Lubbock, two years as Lubbock county attorney, member of the Texas House in 1951 to 1961, House Speaker from 1957 to 1961, attorney general from 1963 to 1967. He was state chairman of Texas Cancer Crusade in 1965 and is a member of American Legion, Texas Farm Bureau and other organizations.

He campaigns on "saving tax dollars," for "stronger law enforcement, urging bringing industry to small towns, strong water and pollution laws, the defeat of an ever-increasing Federal bureaucracy, and better elementary and high schools."

As freshman House member, he was vice chairman of the Texas Crime Investigating Committee. Later, his investigation and subsequent legislation led to "a clean and healthy insurance industry in Texas."

The Texas Youth Council was created while Carr was House Speaker and juvenile laws were redefined.

Pat O'Daniel

Pat O'Daniel

Pat O'Daniel, 50, a vice president of O'Daniel Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, and the son of former Gov. W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel, lists himself as an independent Democratic candidate for governor.

His main topic of conversation in his campaign is his "intention of breaking up the power-hungry, federally controlled central government, or clique, in Washington, D. C. of which Austin is a mere puppet."

O'Daniel took an extended two-week campaign swing through Texas in late April.

His campaign includes the Ten Commandments and the teachings of Christ and the political issues "for which he stands." He is opposed to "liquor by the drink," and "pari-mutuel betting." He favors teachers pay raises and proposes a $100 month pension for the elderly and strong support for air and water pollution control.

His April campaign, however, was keyed on "cutting the strings that make these puppets dance and eliminating the personal profit, personal favoritism, political corruption and intrigues which are now prevalent in our state government as illustrated in the recent Texas Liquor Control Board scandal." He proposed "cleaning up the various commissions that are now wracked with greed and self-interest."

O'Daniel was born in Fort Worth in 1918. He attended schools there and attended the University of Texas for three years. He entered the Army in 1941 and graduated from Officers Candidate School in 1943. He was retired from the service in 1945. O'Daniel worked for his father in Washington when the elder was Senator from Texas for two terms, gaining knowledge of duties of the governor's office while his father was governor in the late 1930s.

He is vice president of a Dallas life insurance company bearing the family name. He has more than 26 years experience in Dallas and maintained an interest in state and local affairs during those years.

O'Daniel has a sister who resides in California and a brother, Mike, who is in real estate business in Honolulu, Hawaii. He is a member of the East Dallas Christian Church.

His campaigning is conducted by bus, including a five-man band and conducting a handshaking, personal appearance tour of major Texas cities.

Alfonso Veloz

In seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Veloz is spending three weeks of his vacation time to campaign in Texas, winding up activities this week prior to the May 4 primary.

Minimum information was available on Veloz' candidacy since he did not answer an invitation from The Herald to furnish data on his efforts.

It is known that Veloz is supervisor of the mailing and mimeograph departments in Houston's First City National Bank.

He has no campaign organization.

Don Yarborough

Don Yarborough

Don Yarborough, 42, a Houston attorney, and a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination a second time, says he will establish a consumer code to protect Texas shoppers and promises to create a special state agency to bring industry to small towns, if elected.

Termed by "Life" magazine as one of 100 outstanding-Americans at 38, Yarborough was selected by the magazine because of "dedication to something larger than private business the courage to act against old problems the boldness to try out new ideas and a hard-bitten, undaunted hopefulness about man."

"We must have creative new programs to bring new industry and provide new job opportunities now to bolster the sagging economy of some of our small cities and provide new job opportunities for the young people and end the migration to the already crowded cities," he says. He proposed a similar attack on rural and small town problems in 1962, the year Governor John Connally won the Democratic nomination by 26,000 votes in a runoff over Yarborough.

"New industry will mean more jobs and more money to spend, and all shoppers must be protected from unscrupulous sales practices," he says, also referring to his plan for a consumer code.

A key part of his consumer protection program, Yarborough says, will be a fight for lower auto insurance rates.

He was born in New Orleans in 1925. He spent part of his boyhood on a Mississippi farm, moving to Texas with his family at 12.

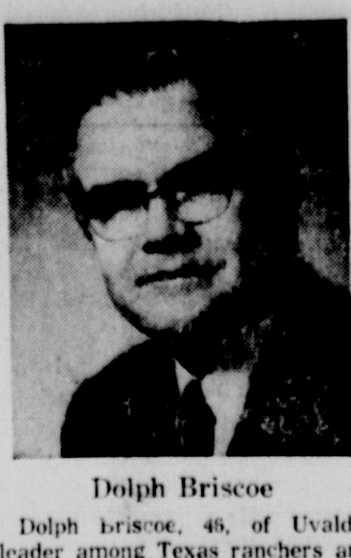

He joined the Marines and at 19 was a company commander as lieutenant. Upon discharge, he earned a law degree at the University of Texas in 1950, working parttime. Yarborough was champion debater in college, in 1959 winning national Junior Chamber of Commerce "speak up contest" in a field of 9,000 candidates. He is past president of Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce, is active in other civic and charitable work and is an Episcopalian.

Yarborough married the former Katherine Alison Edwards of Houston and they have four children.

During the campaign, Yarborough said the key issue in the gubernatorial campaign is "whether the people want to rule their state or whether the Establishment will continue its anti-people grip on Texas."

And he says "I am the only candidate who can deliver exciting programs for Texas. The others cannot deliver because of their ties."

Dolph Briscoe

Dolph Briscoe

Dolph Briscoe, 46, of Uvalde, leader among Texas ranchers and businessmen, is campaigning as a man of the people on "a people-to-people basis." He is past president of Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assoc., and president of Texas State Chamber of Commerce and South Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Part of Briscoe's campaign is the "Tel-A-Housewife" drive whereby local housewives contact others in his behalf through the state. His experience includes eight years in the Texas House of Representatives, 1943 to 1956, being re-elected three times without opposition.

He authored the Farm-to-Market Road Act of 1949, which brought about 36,000 miles of paved farm roads to Texas. And he sponsored the Rural Telephone Bill in 1950 which caused installation of thousands of rural telephones.

Briscoe notes his support for a teacher pay raise bill and authorship of the first resolution calling for complete investigation of the Veterans Land Board, "which uncovered a major scandal involving millions in state funds."

Winner of numerous awards, Briscoe was named "Mr. South Texas" in 1967 and won the Fort Worth Press "Save Soil and Save Texas" awards two years running. He has been named "Outstanding Conservation Rancher" in 1958 and elected one of five Outstanding Young Texans by Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce. And he has received the Knapp-Porter Award for distinguished service to agriculture from Texas Agricultural Extension Service, A&M University, 1966, and Scouting's Silver Beaver award in 1968. Uvalde already has celebrated "Dolph Briscoe Day" proclaimed jointly by the Uvalde mayor and county judge.

He estimates his campaign will cover more than 22,000 miles when completed.

Briscoe is a native of Uvalde, where he was valedictorian of his high school senior class. He graduated from the University of Texas in 1943. He entered the army as a private and served in the Caribbean Theatre. He is married and the Briscoes have three children, 17, 15, and 11. He is a member of the Episcopal Church.

He operates ranches in South Texas and is board chairman of the Uvalde First State Bank, Pearl Security State Bank and a director of San Antonio's Alamo National Bank. He is president, former president or director of numerous ranching, business and educational organizations.

James states that the Treasurer of the State of Texas is one of the constitutional officers of the Executive Department that is elected by the people and provided for in Article IV of the Constitution of the State. The Constitution and the Statutes detail and prescribe the duties of State Treasurer.

"It is my intention," James said, according to Voters Guide, "to continue as we have in the past in the operation of the State Treasurer's office. I expect to continue to operate the office in an honest, economical, efficient and courteous manner."

Preston Smith

Preston Smith

Preston Smith, 56, of Texas lieutenant governor in his third term, seeks to become the Democratic nominee for governor in the May 4 primary.

He was born on a farm near Georgetown in 1912 and prides his rise "from the bottom of the heap" working his way through high school in Lamesa and college at Texas Tech in Lubbock, which is now his home and place of business.

Smith's legislative career began with election to the House of Representatives in 1944. He was elected three terms and then stepped out voluntarily. In 1956 he returned to Austin for six years as state senator from an 11-county West Texas district. In 1962, he won the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor in a five-man race, and was elected by a 319,000-vote margin in the 1962 general election. Smith points out he polled 81 percent of the votes in the 1966 Democratic primary, biggest percentage victory in all the 1966 statewide contested races.

Smith emphasizes he avoids endorsing or opposing specific pieces of legislation in partisan or unfair manner as President of the Texas Senate. He has authored or co-authored bills in the Legislature establishing permanent building fund program for state colleges and installing the Gilmer-Aiken program to improve public schools.

"My career in public service is a personal thing with me. I'm not playing a game on anybody's team. When I think it's time to do something that's needed, I get in and do it," Smith says. He was first candidate to announce for governor in August, 1967.

Smith grew up in a family of 13 children and is married to Ima Smith, of Ralls, who also came from a large family, one of 10 children. They have one son, 26, who is married, and are affiliated with the Methodist Church, of which he is a steward in St. John's in Lubbock.

Smith's 18 years of service includes 227 days as acting governor. He emphasizes fiscal responsibility, limited terms for governor, honesty and integrity in government, and planning for better education, more industrial attraction, application or encouragement improving tourism, job training, relations between people and officials, clean air and water, respect for law enforcement, progress in "our excellent highway system" and consideration of the question of annual or continued biennial legislative sessions.

"Today, people have to work too hard for their money and they pay too much in taxes to have it wasted in any way by government . . .," he says.

Eugene Locke

Eugene Locke

Eugene Locke, 49, of Dallas, Governor Connally's campaign manager and State Democratic Chairman during Connally's first term, sees the "real issue in the race for chief executive of Texas" revolving around the leadership qualities of all the candidates.

Locke is emphasizing education at all levels and solutions for better law enforcement before the May 4 Democratic primary.

He campaigned by a slogan under his picture saying: "Eugene Locke should be Governor of Texas."

Locke is emphasizing education. The governor should be a "man with the courage to fight for what he believes. The issue—the choice of who should be governor—should not be decided basically on who has a lot of technical knowledge in state government," he says.

"I believe the people of Texas want their next governor to be a person with the vision to plan for the future, whose basic principle is dynamic progress within the framework of stability and fiscal responsibility," Locke points out.

He is a graduate of the University of Texas and Law School of Yale University. He saw service as a naval officer in a number of major naval battles in the Pacific during World War II.

Locke has a law practice in Dallas and interests in oil and real estate, owning a cattle ranch in Brewster County.

His credentials include chairmanship of Texas Democratic Party in 1962-64. He later was appointed ambassador to Pakistan by President Johnson at the time of the crisis between India and Pakistan and again when the alliance between Pakistan and Red China was endangered.

Locke stabilized the relationship between the U. S. and Pakistan governments.

He was assigned to go to South Vietnam with Ellsworth Bunker "as a team to help the South Vietnamese government conduct its successful, Democratic election which was held last year," Locke says.

Locke's campaign is emphasizing development of a "widespread system of vocational and technical schools, utilizing, when possible existing junior colleges."

He is also voicing concern for crime and lawlessness and says law enforcement would be another major area of emphasis if he is elected.

Locke is married and has three children, 29, 17 and 15. He attended schools in Dallas, attended Southern Methodist University, transferred to Texas University.

John Hill

John Hill

John L. Hill, 44, of Houston, until early this year secretary of state under Governor John Connally, campaigns on a candidacy for the Democratic nomination to "provide leadership for the continued development of the human and material resources of Texas."

A trial lawyer, Hill was cited four times by the Texas Bar Association for outstanding work in continuing legal education. The former senior partner of Hill, Brown, Kronzer and Abraham resigned his post as secretary of state to enter the race in January.

His platform for "human resources" includes urging excellence in Texas public schools, a junior college system, upgrading teacher status. He favors continued development and expansion of community facilities for research treatment and continuity of care for mentally ill and retarded. And urges "arresting the terrible crime spiral we are experiencing in Texas."

He would propose revision of Texas' liquor code, but will not propose "liquor by the drink." He recommends an increase in workmen's compensation benefits, saving present laws for $45 a week for unemployed worker and $35 per week for a disabled worker are "ludicrous."

His platform for "material resources" favor a "continued balanced tax program" meaning equity for corporations and individuals, keeping Texas "pay as you go."

He boosts tourism growth, fostering agriculture programs in marketing and product promotion which will help Texas growers of food and fibre get their "proper share of the market." And he supports "all reasonable methods to aggressively combat air and water pollution" in a platform on conservation and recreation.

He also advocates rewriting the Texas Constitution and further modernization of Texas government.

He is married and has three youngsters, 20, 18, and 15, all in the University of Texas or Austin High School. He is a past chairman of Board of Stewards, Chapelwood Methodist Church and a director of several Houston church and civic groups. He was commanding officer of a land craft infantry in the U.S. Navy during World War II in the Pacific. He holds a law degree from the University of Texas where he was an honor student in law and student leader. He is active in numerous state and national legal organizations.

TWO — A realistic and thorough clarification of existing criminal code coupled with a repeal of the antiquated laws that impede "adjudication of crimes."

THREE — Revision of liquor laws with emphasis on "clarification, enforcement, and stringent punishment of violations thereof."

Sisk is an ordained Baptist deacon and the son of W. K. Sisk, Th. D., Baptist minister for 52 years.

Sisk is married and has three children, 17, 11 and 9.

He seeks to discount labels in saying: "You can be called too liberal or too conservative, but never too constructive."

John R. Trice, 37, a Dallas attorney, is seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination on a platform of improved law enforcement, higher teachers pay and the importance of the two-party system in Texas.

The native Waco is a graduate of Baylor University and a former Waco assistant city attorney.

Trice emphasizes that Texas has long delayed the necessary increase and improvement of the law enforcement agencies."

We should do what is necessary to increase the manpower and quality of law enforcement agencies to insure that Texas enjoys the maximum amount of freedom without lawlessness . . ."

And he says "education should occupy top priority with Texans if we are to assume our proper position with our sister states. Texas teachers still rank 33rd in the nation in pay."

Trice says "we must drastically improve this situation immediately. We can no longer afford the outdated one-party system known to Texans for decades. A change in leadership is vital to the growth and prosperity of Texas."

Paul Eggers

(No Picture Available)

Paul W. Eggers, Wichita Falls attorney, proposes federal tax "sharing" in his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.

Eggers believes the "federal government is the big tax collector and it would be practical and efficient to have federal funds returned to the states on a no-strings attached basis."

This tax sharing, he says, could provide the sums of money needed to carry out educational programs and help the state meet "other responsibilities."

Eggers proposes Constitutional revision for streamlining state government and ending "unnecessary and confusing amendments being submitted to the voters almost every year."

"I believe that federal tax sharing would improve Texas government over the long run, Eggers points out, "more than any other program under consideration at this time. With more population, vast new sums of money "must be available for state government to carry out productive educational programs and meet its responsibilities."

John Bennett

J. M. Bennett Jr., 59, of San Antonio, a retired major general of the U. S. Air Force, seeks the Republican nomination for state comptroller in the May 4 primary.

He lists in a brief resume directorship in numerous banks and an insurance company. He operates two ranches.

Bennett says the Comptroller is the central accounting officer of the state and emphasizes a "growing and modern Texas cannot afford a horse and buggy state administration, one incapable of even adequately keeping its own books. I believe we need the checks and balances and the infusion of a new idea, which a two party state government can provide."

He says the conduct of the duties of this office in recent years has been "characterized by lethargy and carelessness."

Bennett holds a BBA degree from the University of Texas and is Episcopalian. He is a former state finance chairman of the Republican Party in Texas.

Millard K. Neptune

Millard K. Neptune, 56, of New Ulm, is the Republican candidate for commissioner of the General Land Office. He states that his experience as a businessman would enable him to "appraise the enraging prospects of all state lands."

He is a graduate engineer and lawyer from Oklahoma University. Neptune has 30 years experience in executive positions with large oil and gas corporations. He was assistant director of production, U. S. Petroleum Administration, during both World War II and Korean War.

Jim Segrest

Jim Segrest, 45, of San Antonio seeks the Republican nomination for Texas Railroad Commissioner in the May 4 primary.

Segrest's platform includes of railroad service. He sees need for railroad service, that highways and airlines "never will be an adequate substitute for rail transportation."

He believes the "contract drilling industry should be encouraged to expand drilling and alleviate the severe economic conditions which have plagued it the past decade."

Segrest says "about 35 per cent of the state's income is derived through the Railroad Commission, over $300,000,000 each year. Increased revenue is needed to meet the financial needs of our teachers and growing school systems and higher education. "Improvement in this department is long overdue," he says.

He advocates particularly revival of rail lines in Texas and the nation.

He served with the 10th Mountain Division in World War II. He is a native of Houston, is married and has three grandchildren. He lists membership in many church, civic and social organizations.

Go To The Polls Saturday, May 4 and ELECT DAN KUBIAK Your State Representative

• FULL TIME REPRESENTATION:

Government work should not be a side-line business. I believe that your Representative, in order to represent all the people in this district, must make it his only occupation.

• CURB TAX INCREASE:

I oppose any increase in taxes to the common people. I am against any State Income Tax. We must balance the budget and then provide a sensible tax structure for all Texans.

• EQUAL RIGHTS FOR WOMEN:

I firmly believe there is no reason for women to be penalized by laws written in the horse and buggy days. I will work for and submit legislation during the next session to provide equal legal rights for women.

• WELFARE:

A complete revision of our welfare program is needed. We spend approximately $1,500,000 per county per year on welfare. Those who do not need it get it, and those who really need welfare, do not receive a justifiable amount.

• STATE SPENDING:

I believe strongly in eliminating wasteful pork-barrel projects. We must balance the budget.

• VOCATIONAL EDUCATION:

Having been a teacher for the past 6 years I realize that we must concentrate more on our Vocational Programs in our high schools such as welding, plumbing, auto-mechanics, electricians, and heavy farm equipment operators. The jobs are here but we must train our people for them.

• DEPENDENT AND NEEDY:

We are spending millions to provide a mere income for our needy but we spend very little toward making each and everyone of them a productive citizen of our society.
